

HUMAN RIGHTS DILEMMAS FOR BUSINESS

Engage in the online Solutions Forum

We invite you to participate in a multi-stakeholder Solutions Forum on human rights dilemmas for multi-national corporations. The forum aims to enhance our collective understanding of human rights themes and identify practical solutions to real-world dilemmas that challenge responsible business. It also provides links to other relevant websites, resources and initiatives.

The forum engages and invites feedback on solutions from different stakeholders including business, international organisations, civil society, academics, local communities and more ...

Explore dilemmas and themes

Explore an initial set of human rights themes relevant to your business. We provide an introduction to each theme as well as a summary of how it impacts business activities, operations and supply chains. Stakeholders are asked to comment on the significance of each theme and suggest additional dilemmas for business.

Discuss and suggest solutions

Stakeholders can also feedback on a further set of key human rights dilemmas and company case studies that will be progressively added to the forum throughout the course of 2009 and 2010. These include further insight on the risks to business as well as stakeholder viewpoints, a discussion of rights that are impacted as well as links to relevant themes, further learning resources and an ongoing dialogue on lessons-learned, potential solutions and best practice.

How to participate

Explore themes and suggest solutions to dilemmas at » <http://human-rights.unglobalcompact.org>

Submit a new dilemma or case-study online or email
» solutionsforum@maplecroft.com

For further information please contact:

United Nations Global Compact
Matthias Stausberg
stausberg@un.org
+1 (0) 917 367 3423

Maplecroft
Kevin Franklin
solutionsforum@maplecroft.com
+44 (0) 1225 420 000

Website
launching mid-June 2009

