GROW – SHARE – CHANGE – CONTRIBUTE - INSPIRE

If ...

- you would like to explore how to collectively prevent corruption;
- you would like to better understand the potential role of business in fighting poverty;
- you are facing challenges in community engagement or in assuring that your organization and supply chain will not be complicit in human rights abuses;
- you would like to become an empowered change agent in and for your organization;
- you have a burning question with regard to implementing Global Compact principles;

And if you are willing to take responsibility for your own learning, then this 4th Global Compact International Learning Forum Meeting is for you!

The meeting will particularly focus on business and zones of conflict; collective action against corruption; collective action for development. While some case studies will be discussed, the overall meeting will be facilitated through Open Space Methodology.

Pre-meeting learning oriented field visits are offered from 20-22 November.

The Meeting will be organised in partnership with the Centre for Corporate Citizenship of the University of South Africa and UNDP Ghana, with advice on the learning and facilitation methodology from the OASIS School of Human Relations.

The meeting targets up to 300 Global Compact participants: managers and experts from business and civil society, working in the field of corporate citizenship, sustainability and partnership challenges.

Registration starts early May at: www.ungc-learningforum.org

The Global Compact invites its participants and partner organisations to explore their interest in contributing to this learning platform e.g. by mean of developing a case study on one or more of these topics or to facilitate a field visit to one of their sites in Ghana. Also, some opportunities for sponsoring are available.
